February 23rd, 2009 –Stephen Treacy, MD, member and educator with the Arthroscopy Association of North America (AANA) recently instructed a continued education seminar to the orthopedic surgeons and resident members of AANA.

AANA was created in order to improve upon the diagnosis, treatment and skill set of those in the orthopedic sector of healthcare by providing training from those with expertise in Arthroscopy. Dr. Treacy provided instruction on advanced Shoulder Arthroscopy and Knee Arthroscopy procedures to 50+ other practicing orthopedic surgeons and residents throughout a three day period. Dr. Treacy was chosen to instruct these classes based on his Arthroscopy experience and knowledge in treatment and skill set. He frequently donates his time for their educational programs.

In addition to his advanced arthroscopic skills, Dr. Stephen Treacy has Subspecialty Certificate in Orthopaedic Sports Medicine from the American Board of Orthopaedic Surgery (ABOS). Dr. Treacy is 1 of 550 orthopedic surgeons in the US who have obtained this level of education through ABOS and currently is the only surgeon in the area with this certificate.

Dr. Treacy has been practicing with Rezin Orthopedics for 12+ years, focusing on general orthopedics and subspecializing in Sports Medicine with an emphasis in arthroscopy.
